Every Moment of Every Day

Throughout childhood, you helped me keep growing and growing.
While inside you, I was able to sleep with my eyes shut for days and days.
The day of my birth, we were blessed by being able to touch each other's face.
"Then the pain, discomfort, exhaustion, and fatigue turned into happiness."

There's good, there's good enough, and then there are dreams that become reality.
Before you know it, I'll be attending school and then going off to attend college.
Sometimes God wants to bring home one of His children before their parents,
"It could happen even though parents shouldn't bury their children first."

Wise folks say, "There's two things guaranteed in this life...death and taxes."
What they forgot to say "Is that we also take time each Sunday to worship."
Both of my parents and others taught me well, just so you will know;
If you ever need me, I'll be around every moment of every day.
